To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to offer this letter of recommendation on behalf of Mr. James Whitt.

James began working for Domain-it! as "Web Developer / Assistant System Administrator" in September, 2003. During his almost two years with Domain-it!, James helped advance the company in several ways while also improving on his own skills.

Most notably, James developed custom mail server software and administration tools, which we expect to use for several years to come. He also helped create a registrar system, which connects to domain name registries around the world. James is resourceful, creative, and often suggested ways to improve costs or revenue from a business and system standpoint.

On an ongoing basis, James helped administer our numerous client servers. He demonstrated an extensive knowledge of hardware and software for both UNIX and Windows, and was more than proficient at building desktops, servers and networks.

I found James to be a trustworthy individual who worked well both independently and with others. He was happy to assist others, and able to articulate himself so that less technical employees would understand and feel at ease. He also documented his development code well enough for his peers to understand or take over.

I would highly recommend James to any company seeking these qualities in an individual.

Sincerely,

Paul Goldstone
President & CEO, Domain-it!, Inc.
